3,000 Bright Kids Toward Career Paths in Your Industry

These 6th-to-9th grade boys and girls—including minorities, African Americans, and women—form part of your future potential workforce labor pool.

The best and brightest kids—coming from the Metropolitan School District plus select districts of Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, and Kansas—already have been studying math, science, and technology. When they graduate from high school and college, they can grow into the highly qualified candidates you need for those productive positions in your firm.

Let them visit your booth. Let them interact with your staff. Let them touch your materials. Let them be inspired by career options your industry offers. Let yourself be caught up in the dynamic sharing of enthusiasm.
